

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

July 2, 2008

Contact: Maura Masters, Promotional Concepts, 970-963-6554 x 15

KITCHENSTORE BASALT EXPANDS SPACE, OFFERS NEW MERCHANDISE
Just in time for River Days Pie-Baking Contest!

BASALT, Colo.— The Kitchenstore Basalt, inspiration for creators of good food, announces the expansion of its space at 207 Basalt Circle to now include an extensive array of table linens, flatware, dinnerware, and glassware. Featuring Vietri flatware, MammaRo Italian-designed home accessories, Luigi Bormioli Michelangelo glassware, and Chlewich linens, plus other top lines, Kitchenstore2 is the perfect place to register for a wedding, birthday, anniversary or other special occasion.

“With this expansion next door, we will be able to offer soup to nuts service to our customers who look to us for small kitchen gadgets to high-end appliances. It’s my hope that the products we carry will lend inspiration to all chefs -- from the budding to the professional or private chef. The Kitchenstore Basalt is now the most well-equipped kitchen store in the valley,” said Linda Hacker, owner. The Kitchenstore Basalt carries products from vendors including Viking, Le Creuset, Cuisinart, All Clad, Jura Capresso and others.

In addition, Linda Hacker will be hosting and judging the 11th annual River Days pie-baking contest, Saturday, August 16, 1-2pm (1:00-1:30pm pie drop off and display, and 1:30pm judging). The fun and festivities of Basalt River Days starts at Lions Park and extends all the way up Midland Avenue through the core of downtown Basalt. The pie-baking contest will be held in front of The Kitchenstore at the north end of Midland Avenue.

Linda Hacker, also known as The Kitchen Lady, offers her services throughout the valley including in-house visits, emergency deliveries, and creative guidance. The Kitchenstore Basalt can be reached at 927-3634 or 866-927-3634, kitchenstore@gmail.com and www.kitchenstorebasalt.com. End.